

AMY SAMELSON
design

Based in Brooklyn's charming Cobble Hill, Amy Samelson acts as her client's collaborative partner, combining years in the design world with creativity, insight and intelligence.

Working directly with her client's visions, Samelson carefully guides them through the design process to create spaces that are unmistakably their own. Valuing simplicity in design, Samelson artfully combines materials with a refined eye and a thorough understanding of price point, offering designs that are accessible to all. Noted for her use of beautiful colors, rich textures and graceful lines, she creates warm, inviting and thoughtfully functional homes for her clients.
